HELP

THE ANALYTICS-DRIVEN ENTREPRENEURIAL UNIVERSITY

To prepare for the future, we are transforming to become the Analytics-Driven Entrepreneurial University. Our effort is recognised by MDEC which conferred on us the Premier Digital Tech University Award. We also received the MDEC Recognition for Certificate training in Data and Business Analytics for students.

To support this transformation, HELP invested RM25 million in the Business Analytics and Technology Innovation Centre (BATIC) which will innovate and incubate techno-entrepreneurship. At the same time, we are investing heavily in re-skilling and up-skilling staff capabilities in data science and data analytics. We are getting bigger, better, bolder in our innovative education investment.

Besides using analytics to drive our management and teaching, we are also building our research capability in analytics application. Part of the research grant from the Ministry of Education and internal funding is allocated for analytics research.

To complement the above development, we have signed up with Bloomberg to set up one of the largest Bloomberg Finance Labs among private institutions in Malaysia. This resource facility boosts the economics, business, financial and analytics training in our Faculty of Business, Economics and Accounting, the ELM Graduate School, and the Faculty of Computing and Digital Technology.

In addition, we have training and internship collaboration with multinational companies such as Alibaba, Sheng Tai International and other techno-entrepreneurs.

Internationally, HELP has earned further recognition for its innovative efforts. In the QS Star Rating System, we were awarded the maximum 5 Stars in 9 categories of endeavour, including Online Learning and Business and Management Studies; in the QS World University Ranking we were placed No. 1 in Asia for Outbound Student Exchange in recognition of our achievements in placing students in top institutions worldwide and for being a university of choice for students from many continents.

ALL HELP STUDENTS ARE ELIGIBLE FOR THE FREE CERTIFICATE IN DATA AND BUSINESS ANALYTICS COURSE.

Competency in a profession), we have designed the TEA culture to nurture the right skills and predisposition in our students.

TEA is the acronym for Thinking mind, Entrepreneurial attitude, Analytics skills: T is about robust thinking skills; E is about having a problem-solving mindset; A is about the skills in applying evidence-based management using data analytics. Each of these is supported by a programme of skills training and attitude development, viz the Critical Thinking Skills Programme, the Entrepreneurship-Leadership-Management Programme (ELM), and the Analytics Certificate Programme. This is the core education culture of HELP University as we prepare our students to be IR 4.0 future ready.

During the last 33 years, HELP has been exploring and experimenting with innovative ways to evolve our education philosophy, principles and practices. To achieve the 3 Cs (Character development, Competency in leadership, and

GROOMING EMPLOYABLE LAWYERS

Choosing the right programme that comes with the appropriate facilities and ambience for study is any student's and parent's priority. Thus, the question arises, why HELP for Law?

Allow us to introduce you to the philosophy of the Faculty. HELP University has been enjoying the privilege of being one of the first private universities to introduce the UK Degree Transfer Programme (Law) which has been recognised by prestigious and reputable universities in the UK. To date, we have as our partners Cardiff University, University of the West of England, Bristol, Aberystwyth University, University of Liverpool, University of Manchester, University of Sheffield, Northumbria University, University of Hertfordshire, University of Leeds and the School of Oriental & African Studies, London (SOAS). The programme has also received full accreditation from the Malaysian Qualifications Agency (MQA).

2009 also saw the Department expand by introducing its own Bachelor of Laws Honours degree. The Bachelor of Laws Honours degree has received full accreditation from the Malaysian Qualifications Agency (MQA) and received recognition from the Malaysian Legal Profession Qualifying Board (MLPQB) in June 2019.

The Faculty assures you of quality teaching as we have teaching faculty who are experienced, dedicated and qualified, some of whom were former practitioners who have turned to full-time academic life. We believe that great careers are built on firm foundations. Our approach is holistic. We strive to listen, to learn, and to help students define their dreams and achieve their aspirations.

“I must give credit to the lecturers who always go beyond their call of duty to offer their support. They value our opinion and encourage us to think out of the box, a skill that I certainly developed at HELP. Besides that, the syllabus and programmes conducted by the University have prepared us to face the real world. They emphasise, amongst others, peer teaching, legal research, negotiation skills, mediation and I learned to value different opinions to ensure teamwork. I would without a doubt recommend HELP to anyone wishing to pursue studies in law”.

SENIOR MEMBERS OF THE LEGAL PROFESSION GIVE GUEST LECTURES THAT ENHANCES STUDENTS' KNOWLEDGE OF THE LAW.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT COURSES AND GUEST LECTURES

The Faculty conducts Professional Development Courses and Guest Lectures which are facilitated by eminent legal practitioners, professors, retired and foreign judges on topical areas of the law. By attending these courses, students are exposed to the various areas of legal practice.

RESEARCH AND PUBLICATIONS

THE HELP LAW REVIEW is a refereed law publication of the Faculty of Law. It serves as an incubator of knowledge and ideas, and promotes legal writing and legal thinking amongst academics and members of the legal fraternity.

THE HELP STUDENT LAW JOURNAL is a student-led publication of the Faculty of Law and Government. The Editorial Board and contributors to the law journal comprise undergraduates who carry out the editing and writing of articles. Contributors are guided by the academic staff of the faculty, acting as 'supervisors' to ensure that it is an enriching and knowledgeable endeavour for all involved.

Research in both these journals covers a range of areas that are both traditional and cutting-edge. These are relevant to the students at undergraduate level in facilitating research for their assignments and year three dissertations.

“HELP is a wonderful episode in my life. Fresh from school after SPM, I decided to take up A-Levels and I'm glad that I chose the right institution. Basically, HELP offers a conducive learning environment, including a full team of dedicated and intelligent lecturers. In addition, the Department of Student Affairs did well to cultivate the talent and potential of students through clubs, societies and sporting events to enable the students to improve their interpersonal skills and maintain a well-balanced lifestyle. Hype Excellent Learning Phase!”

“Pursuing my first year of LLB at HELP provided a strong foundation of fundamental skills and understanding, which made the later years of my degree a more manageable task. The teaching team at HELP is second to none in terms of dedication and capability. I also cannot stress enough the relevance of the Legal Skills course (unique to HELP) in building strong practical and fieldwork skills in law students.”

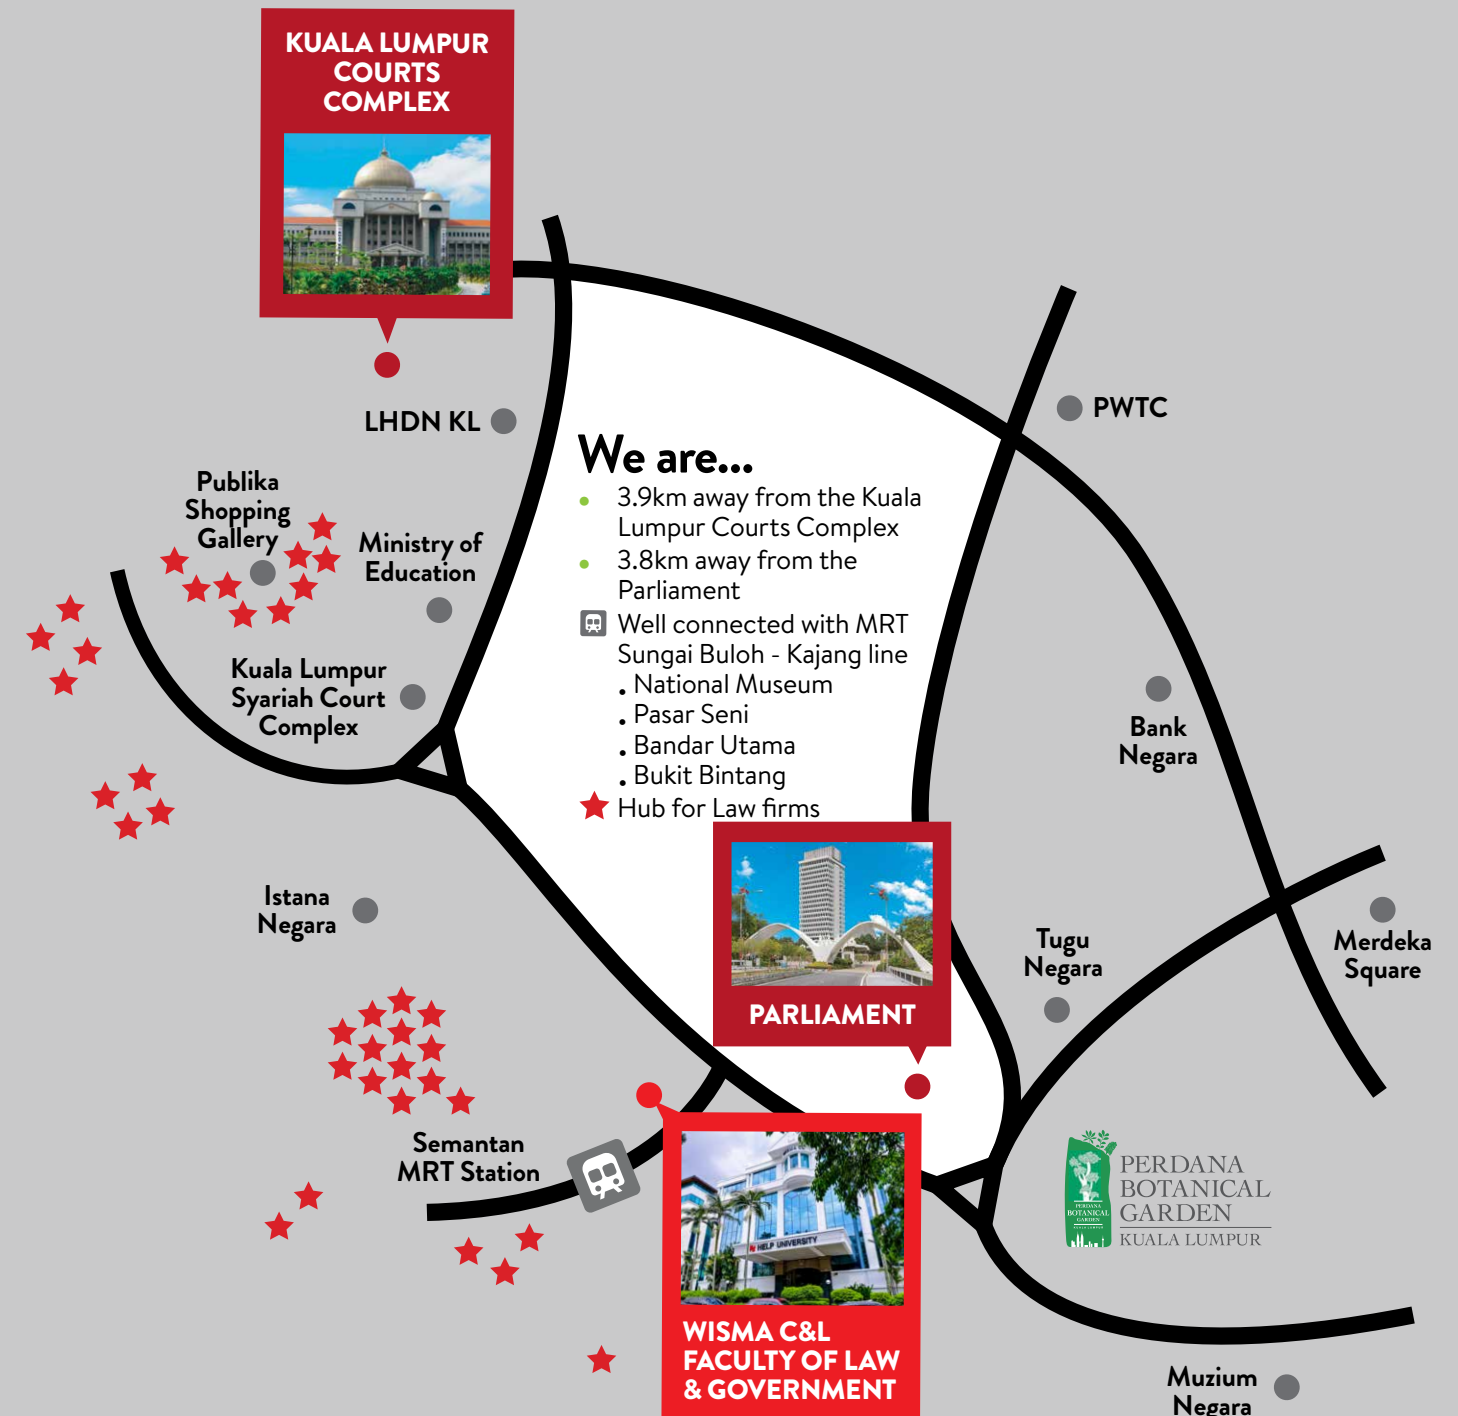

Henna Nikita Sanghvi

LLB First Class Honours, University of Manchester (2018)

“The law lecturers at HELP University were very helpful and professional, not only in delivering their teaching and making the students fully understand the points of law, but they also prepared the students to grasp the soft skills that are needed and trained them to think critically like a lawyer. Also, the legal skills and practice modules, which were only offered in the HELP Law programme, were particularly useful for all students who later might embark on the CLP course, or the UK Bar Exam in order to practise law, as it gave them a glimpse of the practical side of the legal world.”
